Washing Clothes

or cleaning house with ordinary soap is like rolling a heavy stone up hill; it takes main strength and a good deal of it. The same work done with Pearline is like rolling the stone down hill—its easy; quick; true; goes right to the mark; and with very little labor.

All dirt must go before PEARLINE. It robs woman's hardest work of its drudgery—(a praiseworthy theft, by the way). The question is—does it or does it not hurt the hands, clothes or paint? We tell you it don't but we are interested (as well as you)—so ask your friends who use it; you'll find most of them do, the annual consumption is equal to about three packages a year for every family in the land. But better yet—get a package (it costs but a few pennies, and every grocer keeps it) and try it for yourself—your gain will be larger than ours.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers are offering imitations which they claim to be Pearline, or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—they are not, and besides are dangerous. JAMES PYLE, New York.

RHODE ISLAND

Bishop Harkins Refuses to Participate.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 23 Bishop Harkins, of the diocese of Rhode Island, has declined to participate in the celebration of the cotton centennial at Pawtucket. The bishop in a letter to the chairman of the committee says. "Considering the object of the celebration and the manner in which it is to be conducted I respectfully decline to assist in it." Rev W. Halligan, pastor at Pawtucket, also refused to allow his Sunday School to participate in the parade. He says "When the matter of a Sunday School parade was first laid before me I consented to have my children take part in it feeling that it was to be a purely civic affair. A glance, however, at the programme convinces me I was mistaken"

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Which May Prove a Fatal One.

PORTSMOUTH, N H, Sept. 23. What will undoubtedly prove a fatal runaway accident occurred this noon. A pair of horses driven by Thomas E. Garland, of Dover, were frightened near the Boston & Maine railroad station. Garland was thrown out and dragged some hundred yards, being picked up in an insensible condition and taken to the nearest house where he remains unconscious. Dr. Sherburne was called and on examination found that Garland had sustained a severe contusion of the brain. Garland was a prominent citizen of Dover, being treasurer of the Dover Gas Light Company and connected with numerous business enterprises.

NO ONE INJURED.

Stock Train Derailed and Traffic Delayed

AYER, Mass., Sept. 23. A stock train from Nashua collided this morning with an outbound Stony Brook branch freight on the Boston & Lowell road at North Chelmsford. Several cars were derailed and the road was blocked for about six hours. No one was injured.

BIRCHALL'S CASE.

Great Interest Taken in the Trial.

WOODSTOCK, Ont, Sept. 23. The court room was even more densely packed when court opened this morning in the Birchall case than it was yesterday. The grand jury in the case of Mrs. Birchall reported no bill this morning on the charge against her of being accessory to the murder.

A HUGE PARADE.

Ten Thousand Persons in a Religious Demonstration.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 23. The national congress of German Catholics was inaugurated last night with a parade composed of 10,000 German Catholics from all parts of the country. The parade was one of the most impressive religious demonstrations in the history of Pittsburg and was viewed by a quarter of a million persons.

FIGHTERS ARRAIGNED.

Both Bound Over to Keep the Peace.

LONDON, Sept. 23. Slavin and McAuliffe were arraigned in court this morning and each bound over to keep the peace in 1,000 pounds, each prisoner furnishing one surety to appear when called upon. FLOODS IN FRANCE.

Great Destruction Done to Property in Several Places.

Large Section Flooded by Breaking of a Dike.

PARIS, Sept. 23. The floods in the department of the Gard have caused much damage to property. On Sunday the river Rhone rose 19 feet and the town of Beaucaire was flooded. At Valleraugue, on the Herault, thirty-nine miles northwest of Nimes, the river overflowed its banks and undermined a portion of the cemetery. A number of coffins were washed out and together with their contents floated down the river.

The Ardeche river is greatly swollen. At Aubenas a dike collapsed and the surrounding country was flooded. Houses were undermined by the waters and fell and vineyards throughout the district were devastated. Three persons were killed.

The country along the Gardon river, with its standing crops is an immense swamp. The Moussac bridge has been destroyed and railroad and telegraphic service have been stopped. The Avignon and Cadenusse districts along the Rhone in the department of Vaucluse are submerged and workshops and factories are closed

A SERIOUS WRECK.

Passenger Train Dashes Into a Freight Train.

One Man Instantly Killed and Others Injured.

NAMPA, Idaho, Sept. 23. A freight on the Oregon Short Line, which had broken in two a short distance from here last night, was run into by an east bound passenger train, running at a high rate of speed. Patrick Boyle, a passenger, was instantly killed and a number of firemen badly injured. The freight cars were thrown into a ditch.

A SECRET MEETING.

Various Rumors on the Street About It

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 23. A secret meeting of the officials and representatives of the employes of the Michigan Central railroad was held yesterday. One of the rumors current is that in view of the crowded condition of the railroad market the management has decided to reduce the salaries of conductors, baggage masters and brakemen, $15 $10 and $5 monthly, respectively. Another report is that the men demand an increase of 10 per cent. in wages, on account of additional work. The result of the conference is not divulged.

VERDICT SET ASIDE.

A Peculiar State of Affairs in Boston

BOSTON, Sept 23. In the supreme court to-day, in the suit of Neil McNeil against the Boston Chamber of Commerce, the jury awarded the plaintiff $14,800 Judge Holmes immediately set the verdict aside, on the ground that it was incompatible with the evidence. McNeil alleged in his suit that he was the lowest bidder for constructing the new chamber of commerce building, but that the contract was not awarded him. He in consequence sought to recover $40,000, the estimated profit in case he received the contract. Defendants contended that they had reserved the right to reject any or all bids.

BREWER LOCALS.

Mr. Horace Kent is spending his vacation at his old home in South Brewer.

In Mr. Leslie Kallen's store yesterday there were on exhibition three very finely hand painted jars, the work of Mrs. Arthur Merrill, of Bangor.

The schooners Nightingale and Marshall Perrin cleared from Ayer's mill yesterday with cargoes of lumber and the Rosa Mueller is loading at the same place.

Mr. C. H. Harriman was able to be out yesterday after having been confined to the house for several days with a lame knee, caused by sticking a splinter into it.

The crew of the electric light company were engaged yesterday in stringing a new span of wires across the river, the old ones having, by being stretched and many times repaired, failed to fill the bill.

Work on the wrecked schooner Edward H. Blake is progressing steadily now that we have had some pleasant weather and the damaged stern is ready for the planking. A new mast has also been placed in the vessel

The frame of the wood preparing room at the pulp mill is all in place and will be boarded in at once The tower has been roofed over and shingled, the company deciding not to rebuild it. As soon as some parts of the engine arrive from Pittsburg that will be ready to run.

The new car house at South Brewer is beginning to look as if there were going to be something there. Yesterday the crew of carpenters were engaged in laying the floor of the building, which will be 60 ft by 30 ft., with eighteen feet posting, and they were also at work raising the frame The house will have a capacity of four cars.

Among those who are to attend the State Convention, Y P S C E, and represent the societies in this city are Mrs W E Pierce and Miss Grace E. Washburn, of the First Congregational society, Miss Lettie Doak and Miss Annie Kerr, of the South Brewer Congregational society Mrs Pierce is already in Augusta, and the others will leave this morning probably on the 8 20 train from Bangor, as most of the delegates contemplate going by that train

Sad Death in Stillwater.

In Stillwater on Friday morning, Sept. 12th, Mrs. Susie A. Gilman passed to her heavenly home, leaving a vacancy which will long be sadly felt in the earthly one, where for thirty-four years her sunny disposition and loving nature have added much to the happiness of a happy home.

In Feb. 1877, she was married to Mr Geo Gilman, whose death the following June caused her to know, thus early in life, the deep sorrow of widowhood. She was the daughter of Mrs. Otis Reed, to whom as well as to her step-father, brother and sister, she was strongly attached

She was a highly esteemed member of the Congregational church and an efficient teacher in the Sunday school She was also a member of Revival Lodge, I. O. G. T., and for some time previous to her sickness had been Superintendent of the Juvenile Temple, in which she was deeply interested, planning for its increased usefulness long after her health kept her from its meetings.

No good cause appealed to "Susie" without meeting hearty response; time, strength and money were given generously.

In health her trust in the Master whom she served was her joy; and in sickness and death it was not less so. Well may one say, "Let me die the death of the righteous" If "No life can be pure in its purpose and strong in its faith and all life not be purer and stronger thereby," then will the world be the better for the brief life of the subject of this sketch * * *

The W. W. A. Society of this place is a very busy little band of workers. Though they are anxiously laboring to increase the Sunday School library fund, yet their efforts are not given wholly for home interests; they are also endeavoring to assist in the comfort of Sunshine College at Good Will Farm, having already on hand quilts, pillows etc., which will soon be sent on their way with the good wishes of the society.

The heavy rain of the last two weeks has greatly injured the crops in this vicinity. Potatoes are rotting very badly. Beans are not only sprouting in the fields but immense quantities are spoiled, and beautiful fields of wheat are said to have become worthless by the wet weather.

Several correspondents of the London Daily Telegraph call attention to the fact that a check for a million and a quarter, recently referred to as having been paid by the London and County Bank, was by no means the largest ever drawn. It appears that at least four of the London clearing banks have paid checks for considerably over two millions on more than one occasion. In fact, in this great centre of the world's finance, checks for a million or so, especially on heavy settling days, would seem to be a matter of course, if not quite as plentiful as blackberries. A few years ago the Manchester Ship Canal Company, when buying out the Bridgewater Trustees, drew one check for a million and three-quarters on Glyn & Co., and this document can still be seen at the offices of the Ship Canal Company, Deansgate, Manchester, where it is framed as a curiosity.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

Sunday afternoon at about three o'clock, Horace Turner, a young man about nineteen years old, and in the employ of Craig Haskell, of East Livermore, went to the house of Benjamin Foster to examine a revolver which he was desirous of purchasing. While looking the arm over it was accidentally discharged. The ball entering his forehead, death resulted almost instantly. No one was in the room at the time, but to all appearances he did not know it was loaded. Coroner J. F Jefferds was summoned but after a careful examination, decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

The fishing schooner Georgia Willard Capt. Malloch, of Portland, left Portland Friday on a fishing cruise. She arrived off Jeffries banks about day break Saturday morning, and the crew were getting their dories ready with the trawls, hoping to get a good day's fishing. The wind was about southwest, blowing fresh, and the vessel was jogging along under easy sail, when another schooner was seen near by, going the same way as the Willard. As the vessel approached the man at the wheel of the stranger seemed to get excited and put his wheel hard a port, and crashed into the Willard crushing in her stern and cutting her to the water's edge. It was at first thought the schooner was sinking but on closer examination such was not the fact. The schooner had struck a glancing blow on the port quarter, carrying it entirely away, with the wheel and wheel box, cut the port rail away as far as the main rigging and cut down three planks, and the cabin was filled with water The other schooner did not heave to, to see the extent of her injuries, but kept on her course as if nothing had happened, leaving, for all they knew, a score of men to fill a watery grave The Willard set her flag at half mast, but no attention was paid to it, and Capt Malloch endeavored to find out the schooner's name if he sunk his own schooner in the attempt, so he slapped on all sail and put after her. After a stern chase of two long hours he overtook her, and seeing the name "Urania S., Vinalhaven" on her stern, put about and headed for Portland, where he arrived Saturday afternoon.

The tug of war at Bowdoin College held last week between the sophomores and Freshmen was well contested throughout and watched with great interest by the upper classmen, as well as by many outsiders The first pull was won by the Freshmen, who, after losing considerable ground at the outset, made a decided brace and quickly pulled away from their opponents Throughout the second pull the Sophomores steadily pulled away from their opponents in spite of the determined efforts on the part of the Freshmen. Each class had now won a pull and the third one was to decide it. With determination in their eyes both classes settled down for the final struggle and after a somewhat lengthy and stubborn contest it was won by the Freshmen. The ludicrous efforts of both sides throughout the contest afforded much merriment to the interested crowd of spectators The ball game in the afternoon between the two classes above mentioned was also watched by a large and interested crowd. The Sophomore class turned out en masse and, by their apparently fruitless endeavors to rattle the Freshmen, kept the crowd in a continual uproar. J H Pierce of Portland, covered first base for the Sophomores, whereas the following of last year's Portland High School nine played as follows for the Freshmen: Allen, catcher; Hinkley, second base, Dana, third base. Plaisted, of Augusta, pitched a cool and steady game for the Freshmen The game throughout was full of great interest, the score at all times being sufficiently close to keep up the excitement

$1,616.31 was paid as fines into the Cumberland Superior court, Saturday, and several hundred dollars more would have come in had not the delinquents gone to jail instead

The annual session of the Maine Good Templars at Rockland, next month, is expected to be an interesting and important one. It is announced that to a committee will be intrusted the duty of formulating the laws which the Good Templars desire to see made a part of our prohibitory code. Among the gentlemen mentioned as candidates to succeed Grand Council or Bangs, who has been promoted to the office of Chief Templar, are Rev George M. Park of Presque Isle, Past Grand Treasurer Everett B Norton, of Farmington, District Templar Frank C Holt, of Norridgewock, Judge James Morrison of Phillips, Hon R C Hale of Portland, State Deputy W. H Toward of Lewiston, Editor Clarence S Burleigh of Augusta, and Rev A G Fitz of Paris. Many leading citizens of Maine are expected to be present at the meetings.

THE GREATEST SOUTHERN EXCURSION OF THE SEASON

DEAR SIR The CARDIFF COAL AND IRON COMPANY'S second excursion will leave Boston for Cardiff at two o'clock P M, Saturday, October 4th, from the Boston & Lowell Station of the Boston & Maine R. R Co, and will be carried over the Central Massachusetts R. R, the New York, New Haven & Hartford, Poughkeepsie Bridge, Philadelphia & Reading (through the iron regions of Pennsylvania) and Baltimore & Ohio R. R. to Washington; from thence west to Cincinnati over the Baltimore & Ohio R. R, and from there south to Cardiff over the Queen & Crescent Route, arriving at Cardiff Monday, October 6th.

The trains will remain at Cardiff until Wednesday evening, when the party will start on the return trip to Boston over the same route, but the time-tables are so arranged that many of the points of interest that are passed through in the night-time on the downward trip will be passed in the day-time on the return trip, and reaching Boston, Saturday October 11th.

It is estimated that 300 of Maine's business men and capitalists will accompany this delightful Southern Trip to the old State of Tennessee, so well known in song and story.

This season of the year is the most propitious that could be selected. The expense is within everybody's reach—$70 is the whole cost, including as good Pullman car service as the country affords, both en route and when at Cardiff. No hotel in the country could use its guests better As the route followed by this excursion takes the tourist through several of the principal Southern cities, including Washington, D C, ample time being given the excursionists to view each place, it cannot fail to be an excursion of great interest and profit We advise all of our Maine capitalists to leave their cash at home as it will be very tempting to own one corner lot, when it is seen that it is only a question of a short time when it must be utilized by being covered by a brick block The stock of this Company now being rapidly sold at $50 per share, par value $100, cannot but be a good investment, as it is carefully estimated that the valuable mineral, timber and agriculture land covering a space of eighteen miles each way must be worth in the near future more than ten millions of dollars While we do not advise men to leave the State for homes or investments, we should be pleased to see all our friends on this most interesting excursion to the most beautiful South Land where each can judge for himself the advantages and disadvantages of this land of fruit and flowers.

We having visited this section on the first excursion last April and purchased some city lots in an imaginary city, containing less than ten buildings of all kinds shall now go to a town numbering its structures by the hundred, and would cordially invite all our friends to make this most interesting trip

SCROFULA

Is that impurity of the blood which produces unsightly lumps or swellings in the neck, which causes running sores on the arms, legs, or feet, which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness, which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or "humors" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. It is the most ancient of all diseases, and very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. If you suffer from scrofula, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Every spring my wife and children have been troubled with scrofula, my little boy, three years old, being a terrible sufferer Last spring he was one mass of sores from head to feet. We all took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and all have been cured of the scrofula. My little boy is entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy" W B ATHERTON, Passaic City, N J

Whig and Courier.

BOUTELLE & BURR, PROPRIETORS.

C. A. BOUTELLE, Editor

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle & Burr, and communications intended for publication should be addressed: "Editor of Whig and Courier."

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1890.

The Boston Post refers to David B. Hill as the "bumptious Governor." If Hill should capture the Democratic nomination the Post would fill its columns with the same kind of sickening flattery with which it now deluges Mr. Cleveland.

It is very amusing to read a blood and thunder editorial in the New York World about old precedents being brushed aside and old land-marks swept away by the tyranny of brute force in the House in view of events that have occurred the past week. A copy of this editorial should be framed with a picture of the mild mannered Mr. Kilgore, of Texas, at the time he was engaged in his star performance of kicking down the doors of the House.

One of the many satisfactory features of the recent election was the defeat of that old war horse of Democracy, Hon. John C. Talbot, by Hon. Austin Harris, in Washington county on the legislative ticket. It was a great victory for the Republicans and for Mr. Harris personally. Mr. Harris is a man of the highest character and influence in his county. He was a Senator from Washington county at the time of the Count-Out, when Talbot claimed to be Speaker of the bogus House.

The Democrats were furious Tuesday when the Republicans secured a quorum. They had made up their minds that the "new secession" was going to prevent the transaction of any further business, but the scheme failed. The people have watched the performance and it is safe to say that the country was never more thoroughly disgusted with the Democratic party in Congress than to-day. With honest elections in the South the next House would be overwhelmingly Republican.

New England has always been the great guardian of free government.—Boston Globe.

It has indeed and to this fact is due the pronounced New England sentiment in favor of legislation that will enable the people to elect their representatives instead of having men forced upon them by a bogus ballot and a false count. Maine spoke loud on this point and Massachusetts will follow suit in a few weeks. The earnest indorsement of Speaker Reed and majority rule in the Republican platform will be enthusiastically ratified at the polls.

This year the issue is whether popular government or autocratic and dynastic rule shall prevail.—New York World.

Well, here in Massachusetts we have another issue that is quite interesting. It is: "Shall Massachusetts industries and commerce in this decade of the nineteenth century be wiped out of existence by a twelfth century tariff?"—Boston Globe.

New England, next to Pennsylvania, has benefited most by the tariff.—New York World.

The above is an illustration of the manner in which the able free trade editors knock down their own arguments.

Several of the Republican absentees reached Washington Tuesday so that the House had a quorum and was able to resume business in spite of the Democratic obstructionists. Only one member appeared on the Democratic side and the camera was again brought into use, thus preserving an authentic picture of one of the many disgraceful chapters in the record of the Democratic minority in this House. The case of Langston vs. Venable was disposed of and the colored member from Virginia was sworn in amid great applause. The prospect is that the unfinished business of the session will now be promptly completed. The Tariff bill, it is thought, will be reported back from the conference committee either to-day or to-morrow.

The Washington correspondent of the New York World sends his paper a long political despatch, saying among other things that the people of New England may still be duped because New England next to Pennsylvania, has benefited most by the tariff. The Boston Post on the other hand is shouting day after day that the people of New England are the particular victims of the "tariff robbery." It would be an excellent idea for the free trade editors to have a convention and decide upon some one line of argument in this "educational campaign." These widely conflicting assertions are most confusing to the public mind and are liable to create the impression that one side or the other does not entertain a strict regard for facts.

The Boston Post declares that "unless our information is untrustworthy it is very certain that no tariff bill will pass the Senate until the people have rendered their verdict upon it at the polls in November." It is rather remarkable that one of the most hide bound Democratic sheets in the eastern States assumes to have positive information regarding the probable action of a Republican Senate. The assertion seems to imply that the Democrats propose to resume the inane discussion that characterized the original consideration of the bill in the Senate, when it comes from the conference committee. If this is attempted in the hope of delaying action the Republican majority should limit debate. They permitted the Election bill to go over and surely cannot afford to surrender the Tariff bill. Senator Aldrich, however, wired the President that the bill would pass this week.

The Philadelphia Press says: Ex-Governor Cameron, of Virginia, has written a long letter to explain why he cannot act with the Republican party in the future. The document will serve to recall the fact, now almost forgotten, that Mr. Cameron was once Governor of Virginia and claimed to be a Republican. He left the Democratic party with General Mahone, and was elected to the Governorship as a Readjuster in 1881. It was his unwise course while in office which enabled the Democrats to raise the race issue and consolidate the white vote against the Republican party, a mistake from which the party has not yet recovered. Mr. Cameron might have exerted great influence in shaping the action of the Republican party in his State if it had not been for his unfortunate personal habits and his vacillating course. These wholly destroyed his influence, and since he retired from the Governorship he has lived in obscurity and been a negative quantity in politics. His letter will take nothing but his own vote out of the party, and it was written simply to try and make the nonentity into which he has sunk less vague.

TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

Loss of the Brigantine Abbie Clifford.

Capt. Storer and Crew Four Days on a Raft Without a Drop of Water.

Mrs. Storer Swept from the Vessel and Drowned.

The terrible experience of Capt. D. W. Storer, master of the ill-fated Abbie Clifford, will touch the hearts of his many friends in this city and elsewhere in the State. His wife who was swept from the vessel and drowned was a sister of Mrs. C. G. Porter of Bangor, and the sad, sad news of her death will be read with feelings of heartfelt sympathy for the sorely bereaved husband and the relatives in this city. The following story of the disaster is from the New York Tribune of the 23d:

The steamship Orinoco, of the Quebec Steamship Company, is noted in shipping circles for the number of shipwrecked crews she brings into this port and the tales of adventure which the rescued mariners she brings have to tell. But of all the tales of adventure and suffering she ever brought in none have excelled that which she brought yesterday, when she arrived from the Bermudas with the captain and crew of the brigantine Abbie Clifford. The Clifford was lost in a hurricane, the men lived for five days on a raft, with no water and no food, except two quarts of raisins. The aged captain, on the first night of the hurricane, before his ship had gone down, saw his wife torn by a giant wave from the rigging where he had lashed her and washed overboard. The people on the raft were finally rescued by a ship which had been disabled in the same hurricane, and they were taken to St. George, Bermuda.

The Abbie Clifford was a brigantine of 420 tons, built in 1867 at Stockton, Me. For years she has traded out of this port, although she hailed from Boston. D. W. Storer, sixty-five years old, was her captain, and he has always, until the final disaster, been a most successful and fortunate skipper. The Clifford left Fernandina on her last voyage on August 8. She was laden with lumber and bound for Port of Spain, Trinidad. On August 30, in latitude 30 degrees 20 minutes, longitude 67, a hurricane came howling up out of the southwest. The vessel was put before the wind and ran for five hours. Night came on and the fury of the storm increased. A tremendous sea was running, and combing every now and then over the ship in phosphorescent masses of foaming, hissing water. All hands were on deck, for it was a race for life. The captain's wife was on board, and she, too, was on deck, lashed to the lanyards of the main shrouds.

The brigantine ran through the darkness and the storm until 4 o'clock in the morning, when she broached to and lay helpless in the trough of the sea. A great wave swept over her and Mrs. Storer was torn from her lashings and swept overboard. She was about the captain's age and was accustomed to sail with her husband on his voyages. The brigantine lay on her beam ends, great seas burying her, the howling of the tempest and the thunder of the waves making a tumult that was deafening. But with his ship helpless in the trough of the sea his wife torn away from him and drowned before his eyes, the stout old skipper fought pluckily for his life and the safety of his vessel.

The masts were cut away and the deck-load of cargo was jettisoned. This eased the ship a little, but she was still hopelessly at the mercy of the storm. At 5 o'clock the forward bulwarks were stove in, and part of the main deck and the after deck-house were carried away. Captain and crew now took to the rigging, where they waited for the dawn. When daylight came it was evident that the vessel would not hold together much longer, and the wind and weather moderating somewhat, the sailors got to the deck and constructed a rude raft out of the pieces of lumber which were washing about the decks. The ship herself had long been filled with water, but the cargo of lumber prevented her from sinking. The day was Sunday, the last day of August, and though the fury of the storm was spent, the sea was running high and angry gusts of wind blew foam and spray and ghastly white storm-clouds like shrouds athwart the sky.

No village church bells rang for the storm-tossed sailors that morning, but in their ears sounded the thunder of waves prowling and hissing at them while below them the old brig in her death-agonies groaned like a live thing in mortal pain. That afternoon she broke up, separating into three pieces and the sailors sought safety on the raft which they had prepared. That day, that night and the next day the men floated about on their frail support, over a stormy sea. They could not sleep, for all the time their efforts were required to keep the raft together. They had no water and no food except a box of raisins which had floated out on the water from among the cabin stores on the breaking up of the ship and had been got on board the raft by the sailors.

The morning of the third day broke clear and pleasant and the sea had gone down in the course of the night. As day dawned each man was consumed by a horrible thirst. It was the beginning of the third day on which no drop of water had passed their lips. The sun beat down strong and hot, and there was no shelter for them. They looked at each other with the symptoms of coming madness and gazed with lack-lustre eyes at the mighty monster of a sea which held them in its grasp for what seemed to be an inevitable and horrible death. Finally one of the men, unable to bear longer the parched feeling which seemed to burn him up with a thousand fires, jumped overboard and swam around the raft. To his surprise, his thirst was in a measure quenched. After that, when the feeling of thirst became too strong to bear, the men would swim around the raft and come back a little refreshed. So day by day went by and no sail was sighted, no relief to their sufferings came.

Through all this the venerable Captain Storer exhibited self-control, a physical hardihood, and a determined spirit that was wonderful to see. With his long gray beard flowing over his chest he sat on the frail raft still captain, still determined and confident, never for a moment losing courage or showing signs of physical exhaustion. By the fifth day on the raft, flesh and blood could not stand it much longer. Each man felt that the end was near and the sea had triumphed. But along toward noon a sail was sighted. It came nearer and nearer, and the mad mate frantic signals with their clothing to attract attention. The vessel came nearer, and it was seen that her foremast and jibboom were gone. She saw the raft, lowered a boat, and took the men aboard.

The rescuing ship was the barkentine Beatrice, Captain Hesse, of Barbadoes, from New York for Port-au-Prince. She had been caught in the same hurricane that wrecked the Clifford, and was unable to lay her course for any port. Her second mate was dead, having died from internal injuries received in the storm of August 30. The gale had struck her 160 miles west of Bermuda and had thrown her on her beam ends. She was hove down for two hours. Finally the cutting away of her foremast caused her to right. The day after the crew of the Clifford had been rescued from the raft by the Beatrice the steamship Britannia came along and towed the vessel into St. George, Bermuda. The names of the officers and crew who came to this port yesterday on the Orinoco are D. W. Storer, captain; Ira A. Small, mate, and Charles Dolkump, Henry Richardson and John Denors, sailors.

UNINSURED!

"Can an honest man die uninsured? No except under two conditions. First, that he is broken down in health, and therefore uninsurable; second, that he cannot spare five cents a week for a policy. An honest man's duty to his family compels him to provide for them (as well as he can) not only while he lives, but while they live. He has agreed to protect them—he has given his word for it—and he follows up his promise by the bond of a good life insurance company. Thus he assures them protection—by himself while living, by his insurance when he is gone. The "word" is good and the "bond" is good, but the word and the bond together are better."

Paralyzed!

How often do we hear of persons being suddenly stricken with paralysis? But such persons although apparently stricken suddenly, in all cases been warned for months by premonitory symptoms, which, if they had heeded and treated by the proper remedy, would have prevented fatal result. Paralysis is often curable, but can always be prevented if taken in time.

Among the first symptoms will be noticed nervousness or restlessness with weak and tired feeling in the limbs and general sense of exhaustion; any unwonted exertion will be followed by great fatigue, and the weakness will be marked. These symptoms will often be accompanied by bad feeling in the head, and the patient often wakes each morning more tired and weak than on retiring. As the disease progresses there will be a coldness and bad circulation in the feet and limbs, followed, after a time, by a numbness or tingling, at first hardly noticeable but gradually becoming more and more marked. Among the first symptoms also, are a weak and tired feeling or trembling of the limbs, and exhausted sensation.

A Marvellous Cure of Paralysis.

This certifies that I was stricken with paralysis of the left side in 1881, and have since been under the treatment of many physicians, and tried various remedies. I could not, in the years that have passed since stricken, lift my foot from the floor. I commenced taking Dr. Greene's Nervura, and am now able to walk without a cane, having good use of my foot, so long useless. Dr. Greene's Nervura cured me of my terrible trouble.
ALEXANDER HOGG,
Marine Asylum, Philadelphia.
Sworn to and subscribed before me, this ... of December, A.D., 1887.
J. S. PHILLIPS, Notary.

Another Remarkable Cure.

I had a stroke of paralysis. The suffering I endured was unbearable. My speech was impaired, my mouth drawn to one side, and the pains in my head were maddening. I used Dr. Greene's Nervura, and before I had used a bottle I noticed marked improvement, and now I am well again. It gives me great pleasure to recommend it to all troubled with nervous complaints, or a similar affliction to mine, to use this wonderful medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura.
PAULINE ROSS,
606 7th ave., New York.

Proofs like these are an almost certain guarantee that all similarly affected can be cured by this wonderful remedy. Do not hesitate for a moment when perfect restoration to health is within reach. By no means neglect the first symptoms, for they surely lead to prostration and paralysis. Save yourself from the terrible disease while there is time. If you are suffering from any nervous disease, like nervousness, nervous and physical exhaustion, sleeplessness, nervous debility, mental depression, neuralgia, nervous or sick headache, heart disease, dyspepsia, indigestion, loss of appetite, constipation, or weakness and debility, by all means use this wonderful remedy and prevent a serious or fatal issue. Dr. Greene's Nervura is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless, and is for sale at druggists for $1.00 per bottle.

Notice of Petition for Legislation.

The Bangor Street Railway hereby gives notice that it will apply to the Legislature of Maine at its next session, for a charter to construct a bridge of steel or iron with a sufficient draw across the Penobscot River, between Bangor and Brewer, from a point in Bangor, opposite or nearly opposite the intersection of Pine Street and Washington street, to a point in Brewer opposite or nearly opposite the intersection of Center Street and Penobscot street, and also for the right to take tolls for the use of the same.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. Mr. Hale introduced a joint resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, for the erection in the District of Columbia of a memorial building, which shall be a suitable monument to the memory of U. S. Grant, to contain a military and naval museum, etc., and in an inner court of which may be placed to rest the mortal remains of the distinguished American.

The resolution instructing the Committee on Education and Labor to investigate charges made by the Woman's Industrial League as to the employment of women and children in mills, was taken up.

The resolution authorizing the Select Committee on Relations with Canada to continue the investigation during the recess and next session was agreed to.

The House bill to provide American register for the steamer Neptune was passed.

The Senate adjourned.

House.

Mr. O'Ferrall, of Virginia, was the only Democrat in the chamber this morning during the delivery of the prayer.

The clerk immediately began the call of the roll on the approval of Friday's journal. The vote was announced to be, yeas 155, nays 1, no quorum, and a call of the House was ordered.

Just as the clerk began to call the roll, Mr. Sweeney, of Iowa, one of the absentees, entered and was received by his colleagues with applause.

Shortly afterwards Mr. Mudd, of Maryland, made his appearance and received a reception of mingled applause and hisses.

During the roll call the camera was again brought into requisition and a photographer again reproduced the array of empty Democratic seats.

One hundred and sixty-four members responded to the call and without any announcement of the result further proceedings were dispensed with and the vote again recurred on approving Friday's journal.

While this roll call was in progress applause and hisses were given when Mr. Milliken entered the hall.

For a time Mr. Cheadle, of Indiana, who is opposed to Mr. Langston's claims, joined the absentees and lounged himself on a lounge in the lobby, declining to enter the chamber, but the requests of his party associates proved too strong, and upon this vote he recorded his name in the affirmative.

The vote resulted, yeas 160, nays 0, the clerk noting a quorum.

Notwithstanding the protests of Mr. O'Ferrall, the Speaker directed the reading of Saturday's journal.

Mr. O'Ferrall demanded a division on its approval, and while the Republicans were being counted he retired to the cloak room amid victorious shouts from the Republicans.

As soon as Mr. O'Ferrall was out of the hall Mr. Haughen asked unanimous consent to dispense with the division and there being no Democrat present to object it was so ordered, amid laughter and applause.

Then Mr. O'Ferrall returned but the journal had been approved.

Monday's journal was approved without objection.

The question then recurred upon the first of the majority resolutions to unseat Mr. Venable.

It was agreed to—yeas, 151; nays 1, Mr. Cheadle, the clerk noting a quorum.

Then came the question on the seating of Mr. Langston and it was carried on a division, Mr. O'Ferrall and Mr. Cheadle alone voting in the negative.

Mr. Haughen then escorted Mr. Langston to the bar of the House while the Republican side and galleries broke into loud applause and cheers which were redoubled when the Speaker administered the oath.

Then came a chorus from the Republican side, "Call up another case."

In response to the chorus, Mr. Rowell, of Illinois, called up the South Carolina case of Mr. Miller vs Mr. Elliot.

Mr. O'Ferrall raised question of consideration and on viva voce votes the Speaker stated that the House had determined to consider the election case.

The previous question was ordered and the resolutions unseating Mr. Elliot and seating Mr. Miller were agreed to without division.

Then on the motion of Mr. Henderson, of Iowa, the House went into committee of the whole on the Senate amendments to the deficiency bill.

The House went into Committee of the Whole, with Mr. Burrows, of Michigan in the chair, on the Senate amendments to the Deficiency bill.

Mr. McCreary, of Kentucky, who, with a number of other Democrats, had entered the chamber at this moment, inquired as to what bill was under consideration.

Mr. Henderson, of Iowa, said he did not blame the gentleman for being a little behind on general legislation.

Mr. Caswell, of Wisconsin, sarcastically suggested that the gentleman from Kentucky be sworn in as a member of the House.

The afternoon was consumed in discussion of the French spoliation claims.

Without action the committee rose and the House adjourned at 5 20.

TOWN NEARLY DESTROYED.

A Great Disaster to Colon, Aspinwall—Military Fire on a Riotous Mob.

Great Number of Buildings Destroyed and the People Panic Stricken.

A Loss of a Million and a Half from the Flames—Origin Unknown.

PANAMA, Sept. 23. Three-fourths of Colon were destroyed by fire to-day. The fire broke out at midnight and was not under control until 7 A. M. It is reported that ninety car loads of freight in transit were consumed. Wharves and shipping are safe. Owing to the riotous behavior of a mob of looters the military opened fire with ball cartridges, killing and wounding several persons. A supply of food was sent from here and everything is reported quiet now.

The Fire Originated

in the back part of a store near the electric light company's building, which was entirely destroyed. From the start to the time it burned out, the fire fed on immense quantities of alcohol, spirits, petroleum and other inflammable materials and flames sprang up in three places. About 150 buildings were destroyed, including the post office, supreme court, Alcalde, municipality prefecture and agencies of all except the French Company, the Pacific Mail and Royal Mail offices and part of the wharf and every business house of importance on Front street and all the hotels. The inhabitants were panic stricken for a while. No deaths and no casualties of any account are reported. A pile of lumber belonging to the Boston Ice Company, containing about 250,000 feet, is still burning. The total loss is estimated at about $1,500,000. The cause of the fire is not ascertained.

SPEAKER REED

Addresses a Mass Meeting in Philadelphia.

Some Plain Truths Clearly Stated by Him.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23. This evening a mass meeting, under the auspices of the Republican League of Pennsylvania, was held at the Academy of Music, at which Speaker Reed was the centre of attraction. Speeches were delivered by Hon. John M. Thurston, of Nebraska, President of the National League of Republican Clubs, Gen. Daniel H. Hastings, George W. Delamater, Republican candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, and Congressman Dolliver, of Iowa.

When Speaker Reed arose to address the audience the applause was long continued. He spoke substantially as follows:

My friends:—I thank you for this very cordial greeting. It makes me feel sorry not to be able to say something worthy of it. Until very recently I had feared I should not be able to be with you to-night. The wicked have been very rampant the last few days, and I did not know but what it would be necessary or without them (laughter). But all that is happily over and I feel more responsive to your greetings to-night than I would have this morning (laughter). The Republican party was born fighting. Its very best history was made on the battle field—civic as well as military. It is of the very essence of its existence that it should do battle, for the Republican party means the forward movement of the people of the United States. (Applause.)

It has never been necessary for the Democrats to do anything (laughter). We just came from a scene which reminded men who were in Washington in the early days of the Republican party, of the scenes which took place there at the beginning of the war. On the Democratic side of the House during the past week we have been treated to empty benches. The Democrats haven't been visible. (Laughter.) I want you to understand the occasion that they thought demanded this magnificent uprising.

The Republican party as far as the House of Representatives is concerned, has done what we regard as great deeds. The Democrats proclaimed them very wicked deeds. We have passed the tariff bill which has secured the American market to the American people (applause.) That bill has been the subject of denunciation on the part of the Democrats almost too bitter to be put upon record. According to them the bill and principle it represents carried desolation into every farmhouse in the country and has covered farms in the West three deep with mortgages; yet the Democratic members, while that bill was being passed, sat in their seats and were counted. We passed another bill. This bill, they said, was to ruin the Principles of Liberty.

They said it meant ruin to the peaceable and lovely South (laughter); meant ruin to homes; meant despotism, yet they sat there as sweet as summer. No begira, no departure, or to use a word more familiar to them, no secession. (Great laughter). But when it came to seating a negro simply because he had been elected, the Democratic side of the House arose as one man and departed. (Laughter.) But they have come back, (renewed laughter), resembling the prodigal son, only in external appearance. (Laughter.) My friends, it is such little incidents as this which prevent the Democrats from pointing with pride to the history of their party. It is that which makes them vociferous in expression of feeling when we speak of the history of the United States for the past twenty-five years—for whenever we do it they have the consciousness that we are pointing with pride to the record of the Republican party. (Applause and laughter.) The great thing in this world is the people. They make and unmake parties; they create history; they govern and move and the people of the United States are alone responsible for this government, and it is their business to know and act up to the responsibility.

Desolate in Envy,

This fall, and very soon, there will be an expression of opinion by the people, not a full, free and frank expression, because in thirty Congressional districts of this Union the opinions of people

Will be Suppressed.

It is necessary for you to be on the Lord's side more heavily on that account. (Laughter.) We have not only got to beat conservatism in its worst form, but we have got to beat fraud besides. Now, when the column forms, is Pennsylvania going to be distanced because of absenteeism? Is that great State going to be found anywhere except in the first rank? Not if you mean progress, not if you mean to rule the United States by a Congress present and acting. Your duty becomes all the more tremendous when you consider what will follow lack of energy on your part. We look to you, and hitherto have not looked in vain. Republicanism is good enough for every day in the year and every year in the calendar. Do you want

Honest Legislators?

Do you want a House which intends to transact business? It lies in your power alone. This nation has grown to one of sixty-five millions of people. It is no longer a nation that can listen to orations 58 hours long. It wants business. (Applause.) Do you believe that every man in the country entitled to participate in this government shall cast his vote and have that vote counted as cast? If you do, it is your business to see such a House chosen as will sustain and back up the present House of Representatives. (Applause).

DEMOCRATIC DISAPPOINTMENT

Over the Conclusion of the Contested Election Case.

Their Tactics Rendered Powerless by the Presence of a Quorum.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. By its action to-day in seating Mr. Langston, the House ended what was probably the most protracted and bitterly contested election case that it has ever decided. The result of to-day's proceedings was a surprise to the Democratic minority which, after two weeks of successful operation of what has become known as the "mason plan" of construction were confident that its opponents could not secure a quorum. But word was passed around before the House met that a quorum would be present. The result of the first roll call to approve the journal was awaited with considerable nervousness by the Republicans. During the call it was discovered that Mr. Milliken, of Maine, who had just returned to the city, was not present. Messengers and pages went scouring the city to look him up. As the clerk proceeded he also noticed that Mr. Mudd, of Maryland, failed to respond. Chairman Rowell, of the Elections Committee, went himself in pursuit of the absentee. Mr. Sweeney, who had hardly been expected so soon, came into the House just in season to cast the vote necessary to make a quorum. Further proceedings were remarkably expeditious. Mr. O'Ferrall, the lonely Democratic sentinel, was absolutely powerless to check the majority in full swing.

The yes and nay vote declaring Mr. Venable not elected showed 165 Republicans in attendance, including those who did not vote but were paired. Speaker Reed stood ready to cast his ballot, but did not do so as a quorum appeared without it. The Miller, which followed the Langston case, was even a greater surprise. It was not known generally to the Republicans that the leaders contemplated this move. The resolution which unseated Elliott and seated Miller was cleverly framed to be indivisible. A single vote sufficed to achieve what had required four separate votes in the Langston case.

The Democratic minority was considerably vexed over the result of the day's proceedings and a call for a caucus was circulated with the purpose of endeavoring to unite the party by way of retaliation upon the policy of the treatment of the conference report and upon the tariff bill, which would require the Republicans to maintain a quorum of their own members to dispose of that report. Owing to the lateness of the hour and the small attendance of Democratic members the caucus was temporarily abandoned, although it was stated it would probably be renewed to-morrow.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Two Sisters" at the Opera House.

There was another good sized audience at the Opera House last evening and the performance was thoroughly enjoyable as was manifested by the applause. The work of the whole company is deserving of much praise and it is sure of large and appreciative audiences here if it comes again.

Mr. and Mrs. McDowell.

Theatre goers should not lose sight of the engagement of this talented company for next Friday and Saturday evenings, when they will offer two new comedies, "The Balloon" and "Our Regiment." Of their performance of the former in St. John last Thursday evening, the Evening Gazette said: McDowell's comedy company had a large and select audience last night to witness the second production of "The Balloon," and to say that every one was delighted is putting it mildly. Enjoyment and intense pleasure literally radiated from every countenance. The play ran smoothly and the success of the first production was repeated in the work of Mr. and Mrs. McDowell, Mr. Lyons, Mr. Granville, Miss Hunter, Mr. Height, and the others in the cast. A word of praise is due Mr. Philip Doyley for his interpretation of David, the doctor's boy.

The curtain raiser, "A Husband in Clover," was very mirth provoking last night and Mr. Granville and Miss Clitherow played their respective parts cleverly.

News from Orono.

Messrs. M. H. Andrews & Co., of Bangor, shipped Tuesday to Miss Marion M. Atwell, Orono, one of Ivers & Pond's elegant upright pianos, style U, mahogany finish, with all late improvements such as soft stop, automatic desk front and fall, three pedals, &c., &c., writes our Orono correspondent.

The Catholic fair for the benefit of St. Mary's church, Orono, opened in an auspicious manner in the Town Hall, Monday evening. Those having the matter in charge can but feel pleased at the favorable manner in which they start out. The "Peak's Sisters" was very prettily presented by ten young ladies of the society. The parts were acted well. The many tables were given a large and deserving patronage.

The members of Eagle Engine Company of Orono are making arrangements for their annual firemens' ball, which is to take place in the Orono Town Hall, Friday evening, October 10th. Charles B. Gould is to be floor director and Andrews will furnish the music. An antiquarian supper will be served. A fine list of gentlemanly aids has been selected, and an evening of enjoyment is anticipated.

The members of Orono Lodge of Good Templars are rehearsing a temperance drama, to be presented at the Orono Town Hall at a not far distant date.

Work on the new residence of Rev. F. J. Robinson on Main street, is progressing finely.

The fishermen who have been trying their luck at Pushaw Lake have made some large catches of perch in the last few days and have been well repaid for their efforts. There is always good fishing there, but recently better catches than usual. The black bass fishing during the summer has also been good.

Street Engineer Brackett has nearly his whole street crew at work on Central street getting it in readiness for the paving from the foot of Hammond street to the bridge. Now that we have some fair weather Mr. Brackett will rush things as rapidly as possible to be prepared for another rainfall. The street is impassable to teams at present and all driving is over the other bridges.

To-day is the last day on which tickets will be sold for the excursion to Aroostook, which is advertised in another column, and it offers an excellent opportunity to visit this attractive region at a low rate of fare. Many have already taken advantage of the chance and many more will doubtless take the same course to-day. Tickets are good for a return until Monday, October 6th, thus giving plenty of time to visit there.

Mr. J. M. McNamara, business manager of the Shenandoah company is in the city making the necessary arrangements for the engagement in this city at the Opera House on the nights of Friday and Saturday, October 3rd and 4th. This military drama is one of the most successful plays ever written, and has had a great run. It is promised that it will be presented here in a very complete manner, and it will doubtless draw very large audiences.

The Reform Club will commence its meetings in City Hall next Sunday. Several of the clergy of the city will take part in the exercises, and an excellent musical programme will be rendered. Every Sunday the club intends to revive the work, as it was when it first started, and with earnest workers the members hope to get many to sign the pledge and join their ranks. A full programme will be advertised every Saturday.

General Manager Payson Tucker has been down over his new railroad, the Penobscot Shore Line; and people down there who would get some idea of the significance of this visit, must recall the old European and North American and Portland and Ogdensburg Railroads were before Mr. Tucker took them in charge, and what they are to-day, to realize what improvements are in reserve for the towns and people of Knox and Lincoln counties.

The Bucksport Memorial has lately received a legacy of $10,000 from the estate of the late Emma Buck, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a former resident of that town, and who, previous to her decease, with her mother, built the beautiful stone Memorial Library building, corner of Main and School streets, in that beautiful village. According to the laws of New York five per cent. of all legacies are to be paid to the State, and thus the library has only received $9,500.

The students of Colby, the larger part of whom have been away from Waterville during the long vacation that commenced at the close of Commencement last June, are beginning to return, and this afternoon Waterville will probably be looking like herself again, for the larger part of those connected with the University, as well as those who are to commence their studies, will be there ready for the opening which occurs in the evening. President Small, with his family, who have been on a Southern tour the past few weeks, returned Monday.

The next semi-annual session of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars will be held in Farwell Hall, Rockland, Wednesday, Oct. 8. The Maine Central and Knox and Lincoln Railroads will sell members through round trip tickets at any of their stations for one unlimited fare. They will be on sale Oct. 7 and 8, and are good till the 10th. Members can also obtain accommodations at hotels in Rockland at reduced rates and a limited number can obtain board at private houses. It is expected that quite a delegation from this city will attend.

The electric street door bell although familiar enough still seems to be a missing link to some, and one of these persons, the driver of a grocery delivery wagon, was seen yesterday on an exploring expedition. Having some goods to deliver at a certain house he could find no door bell, and his search for it was somewhat amusing to the observers. The nearest he came to solving the problem of the electric bell was a [illegible] the back door was the last resort and he took it.

The trustees of the State Agricultural Society held a meeting at Lewiston Saturday, engaged in closing up the business of the late fair. They will meet at the De Witt House, in that city, September 29, for the same purpose. The indications are that the receipts of the late fair will just about pay its own expenses.

MRS. FOSTER AT CITY HALL. Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, the famous temperance lecturer and woman lawyer, will speak in City Hall, Bangor, next Monday evening. She will speak in Portland, Auburn, Augusta, Foxcroft and three or four times in Aroostook County, where she will attend the County Convention to be held at Fort Fairfield to-day. Mrs. Foster is a charming speaker and her many friends in Maine will be delighted to hear her. The meeting here will be free to all, but a collection will be taken to defray the expenses. City Hall should be filled Monday evening, as all who hear Mrs. Foster, whose devotion to the noble work of promoting the cause of temperance has given her a world-wide reputation, will be amply repaid.

INCREASING THEIR BUSINESS FACILITIES. Parker & Peaks are building a large addition to their big boot and shoe factory and the work has just been commenced. The addition will be 40x40 and of the same number of stories as the main building. It was made necessary by their large and growing business, which calls for more room, and it will be completed as soon as possible, all due care being given to substantialness, in order that the new room may be utilized. The firm is one of the reliable business houses in the city and gives employment to a large number of operatives. An excellent business has been established, showing what enterprise and good business judgment can do, and it is continually on the increase. The additional room will give considerably increased facilities for the manufacture of boots and shoes.

LECTURE ON BULGARIA. Mr. Stroyan K. Vatralsky delivered another of his very interesting lectures last evening at the Central church vestry, under the auspices of the Willing Workers Society, and there was a fair sized audience present. Mr. Vatralsky took for his subject the country life, manners and customs of Bulgaria, his native place, and his words were illustrated by the native costumes which he wore, giving an exact idea of how the people dress. He told of the various customs of the people, their occupations and manner of living both in the country and city, and described the characteristics of the country itself. Mr. Vatralsky has an excellent presence, and is a very entertaining, interesting and instructive speaker. The close attention which was paid to his words showed the good impression which they made upon his hearers.

OFF FOR AUGUSTA. Among those who will attend the convention of Young People's Societies of Christian Endeavor in Augusta, to-day and to-morrow, and represent the several Bangor societies, are Misses Louise Aymar, Miriam Cates, Mabel Butters, Henrietta L. Rowe, Minnie Jordan, Emma Roundy, Nellie Daggett, Louise Pickard, Louise Smith, Minnie Pearson, Mary Purinton, Hattie Spratt, Mary Spratt, Mrs. M. C. Cushing, Mrs. Weston and Messrs. M. C. Cushing, E. G. Rowe, H. W. Rowe and Mr. Davis. The most of the party will leave on the 8.20 train this morning and will probably be reinforced by several delegates from Bucksport, Old Town and other points in Eastern Maine where there are Christian Endeavor Societies. Those who do not leave this morning will do so on a later train in order to be present at this evening's session, which promises to be very interesting.

THE DAUGHTERS OF REBEKAH. The members of the degree team, about twenty-five in number, from the Daughters of Rebekah, who went to Dexter Monday on the afternoon train, arrived home yesterday morning. They report that the visit to Martha Washington Lodge was one of the most pleasant events of the kind in which they ever participated. They were most hospitably entertained and made to enjoy every minute of the time. They were met at Newport Junction by members of Dexter lodge, and upon arriving at Dexter another delegation greeted them. They were driven in carriages to the hotel, and from there later in the evening were escorted to the hall where the ceremony of conferring the degree upon four candidates took place. After the business of the evening delicious refreshments were served, and the time was passed in a very enjoyable manner. Martha Washington Lodge is a very progressive and social branch of the order, and the members know how to entertain their visitors.

WEDDING IN STETSON. A correspondent writes: A very pleasant company gathered at the home of Mr. Samuel Clark, in Stetson, on the evening of September 3d, the occasion being the marriage of his only daughter Nantie A., and Mr. Willis S. Townsend, one of Stetson's most promising young men. There was a fine display of flowers, tastefully arranged. Miss Emma Damon presided at the organ and played the wedding march as the bridal party entered and took their places beneath an arch of evergreens, from the center of which, was suspended a floral bell. Mr. G. A. Kendall of Carmel, acted as best man and Miss Mabel Foss, of Hancock, as bridesmaid. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. C. Whitcomb, pastor of the Free Baptist church, of Pittsfield. At the conclusion of the ceremony the happy pair received hearty congratulations from the guests present—fifty or more in number. Refreshments were served, consisting of ice cream and cake. Mr. and Mrs. Townsend were the recipients of many valuable presents, and all felt that it was a very enjoyable time.

CITY GOVERNMENT EXCURSION. A party numbering about one hundred and fifty ladies and gentlemen left yesterday morning on the regular train for the City Government excursion over the Bangor and Piscataquis, an annual event which is always very pleasant. They were accommodated in special cars and made as comfortable as possible for the trip to Greenville and return. Besides the members of the City Government were many of the prominent citizens of the city with their ladies and President E. B. Nealley and Superintendent Arthur Brown went with the party. The trip to Greenville gave a good opportunity to observe some of the most magnificent scenery to be observed anywhere, that between Blanchard and Greenville being especially fine. About two and one-half hours were given the excursionists at Greenville, where dinner was taken at the Moosehead Inn. Those who desired to return the same day left on the afternoon train and arrived here at the scheduled time, 6.05 P. M., much pleased with the excursion, which was well arranged. Those who did not return at that time continued on from Greenville to Kineo, taking the steamer after their arrival. The night was to have been passed at the Kineo House, and the members of the party will return this forenoon and this evening.

The Hersey excursion to Dover will occur to-day and a very pleasant time is anticipated.

EN ROUTE TO THE FAIR. Hon. Z. A. Gilbert, Secretary of the Board of Agriculture and Dr. G. M. Twitchell, Secretary elect of the State Agricultural Society, passed through the city yesterday afternoon on the Flying Yankee en route for the St. John fair where they go as judges. Both are accompanied by their wives. Secretary Gilbert is to judge the dairy stock and the dairy products and Dr. Twitchell acts as judge on horses, applying the scale of points as at our State Fair. He is to be assisted by Mr. Goodrich of Vermont, the expert who judged the horses at Lewiston.

MARRIAGE AT GRACE CHURCH. Grace church on Union street was the scene of a pleasant event last evening, it being the marriage of Mr. W. A. Johnson, of this city, and Miss Edith M. Delaney, of St. Thomas, West Indies. At eight o'clock Miss May Ayer commenced the bridal march and the bridal party, Miss Delaney and Mr. Johnson, and the sister of the bride, Mrs. Hannah, who gave away the bride, and Mr. Magee, who acted as best man, preceded by the ushers, Messrs. A. V. Matthews and George Watson, marched up the aisle and took their positions before the altar rail, where stood Rev. F. C. Rogers, who performed the ceremony making them husband and wife, in the presence of as many people as could obtain seats in the church and gallery, while those who could not get seats stood in the aisles, many being unable to obtain admittance. The ushers were assisted by Messrs. Jones, Lamb and Mayo, of Grace church society. After the ceremony had been concluded the invited guests repaired to Mr. Johnson's residence on Spring street, where a reception was held and a bountiful collation partaken of under the direction of Caterer J. Fields Murray. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were the recipients of many handsome presents, which were displayed for the benefit of the guests. Mr. Johnson is a respected colored citizen of this city and his wife is a pleasing young lady who came to this city a year or two ago from St. Thomas.

SAYS HE WAS ROBBED.

Nathan C. Trim States that he Was Relieved of $39 on the Steamer Lewiston.

Mr. Nathan C. Trim, of Charleston, came to the city yesterday forenoon and reported to City Marshal Whitney that he had been robbed of $39 while on a trip to this city, on September 8th, on the steamer Lewiston. He says that he suspects that some of the colored waiters on board the steamer are the thieves, and he intends to-day to get out warrants for their arrest. He would have done so yesterday, but could not as Judge Brett was out of town. He was asked why he had let the matter go for two weeks and had not reported the theft before to the police, and stated that when he arrived here, where he was met by his son, he was ill and anxious to go at once to his home in Charleston, so he decided not to stop at that time but defer the matter until a later date. Mr. Trim feels confident that he can identify several of the waiters who were about the men's cabin during the night on which he lost his money, and he thinks that it was one of them who did the robbing.

His story of the affair is that he went aboard the steamer at Boston, and took a berth in the men's cabin, lying down with his clothes on. When he did so he had $39.30 in a wallet which was in his trousers' pocket. He did not sleep soundly but fell into a doze, from which he was awakened some time during the middle of the night by feeling a hand in his pocket. He placed his hand upon his pocket and found that his wallet had been drawn almost out. After putting it back again he went to sleep once more. He did not look into the wallet during the night, but the next morning after he had arisen, upon opening it to obtain some money to pay for a cigar he found that all but thirty cents had been taken. He thinks that the wallet was taken from his pocket the money abstracted and the wallet then replaced. Mr. Trim states that he spoke to the officers of the boat but that nothing further was done in the matter. He says that he means to press the case and discover the guilty parties if possible.

OLD TOWN BOOMING.

The New Buildings Going Up.

[Regular Correspondence Whig and Courier.]

Old Town is certainly having quite a boom for the carpenters and all are very busy. The three fine residences on High street are rapidly nearing completion, and make a great addition to the looks of the street.

Mr. Jerry Doyle is laying the foundation for a large house on Center street near the residence of Mr. Thurlough Wing, and several other dwelling houses are in process of erection.

The school buildings of Old Town have long been a source of dissatisfaction and regret to many of the more public spirited citizens and it is to be noted with pleasure some important steps in their improvement. The Academy building is being thoroughly repaired and many changes made. A new furnace is being put in, the recitation rooms enlarged, a new stairway built, and the walls newly plastered throughout.

The old unsightly building occupied by the grammar and intermediate schools, located near the Town Hall is to give place to a large, commodious school house now partially completed, which when finished will be a credit to the town both in utility and design.

An improvement in public buildings is always a move in the right direction in a progressive town.

Numbers have been placed upon nearly all the houses and taking it altogether we are getting ready as fast as possible for that city charter.

Y. M. C. A. State Convention.

The twenty-fourth annual convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of Maine, will be held in Lewiston, October 23th. The sessions will be held in Pine street Congregational church, commencing Thursday evening and closing Sunday evening. No limit is made for the number of delegates from each association. The names of those expecting to be present should be forwarded to T. M. Singer, General Secretary of the Lewiston Association, prior to September 27th. As heretofore, pastors, delegates from churches, young people's organizations, religious societies, educational institutions and all young men engaged in Christian work, will be heartily welcomed and entertained.

Among the prominent association men and Christian workers who are expected to be present are Revs. F. T. Bayley and N. T. Whitaker, of Portland; Mr. R. M. Armstrong, State Secretary of Massachusetts and Rhode Island; Mr. B. C. Wetmore and Mr. C. L. Yates, of New York. Prof. R. F. Hayes of Bates College, will deliver an address. The railroads will make one fare for the round trip. F. L. Willis, General Secretary of Waterbury, Connecticut, association will conduct the singing.

PUT BEHIND THE BARS.

Joseph Nute Arrested by Detective George W. Harriman.

Joseph Nute of Burlington, was arrested yesterday by Detective George W. Harriman, on the charge preferred by George M. Page, also of Burlington, of having taken money which did not belong to him. Mr. Page said that he let Nute have a pair of oxen to use for a time and that Nute, having an opportunity to sell them, consulted with him, and he consented to have the bargain made. Nute sold the oxen and kept the money, so the complainant states. As soon as he saw how matters stood Page swore out a warrant against Nute and it was placed in the hands of Detective Harriman, who went yesterday morning to Lincoln. From there he drove to Burlington and found that Nute was in the woods. He drove back three miles and left his team.

He walked about eight miles into the woods, visiting various camps where he thought Nute might be, and finally succeeded in finding him. Nute was at once placed under arrest and the detective and his prisoner started on the return walk, which was made through a drizzling rain, the moisture not adding to the comfort of the pedestrians. The detective brought his man to Lincoln and from there by train to this city, where Nute was locked up, to await the examination which will be held to-day. Nute is about twenty-six years of age. His arrest caused the detective quite a jaunt, but the capture was accomplished very successfully.

Invitations.

On account of the protracted session of Congress, Representative Boutelle has been obliged to decline a very earnest invitation to address the great Reunion of Kansas Veterans, at Topeka, Oct. 7, 8, 9 and 10.

Mr. Boutelle has also received pressing invitations from the Republican State Committees of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Missouri, and from New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Iowa, California and other states, to speak in the pending campaigns.

Temperance Convention.

The programme for the State convention of the Non-Partisan W. C. T. U. will consist of a reception to visitors and delegates by the Foxcroft Union on Tuesday evening, Sept. 30th. Wednesday will be devoted to organization and department work, reports, etc.

An address of welcome will be delivered by Mrs. Ellen Ober, of Foxcroft, and the response to the same by Mrs. Anna Sargent Hunt, of Augusta.

Wednesday evening there will be addresses by Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, of Iowa, and Mrs. Ellen J. Phinney, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Devotional exercises during the convention will be conducted by Mrs. Harriet C. Pulsifer, of Auburn, Mrs. [illegible] V. Hanson, of Skowhegan, and others.

Among the questions of interest coming up for discussion is a change in the name of the organization.

It was voted at the first annual convention in Cleveland last winter to submit the choice of name to the local unions and many members are in favor of a change if an unanimous decision can be reached.

HEART FAILURE.

Weak Heart, Shattered Nerves and Nervous Prostration the Trouble with Thousands.

Failure or weakness of heart action is becoming a very prevalent disease. It is a most serious and dangerous condition to be in, and gradually runs into palpitation, spasms or neuralgia of the heart, total exhaustion of nerve power or death. At the first sign of these dread diseases every one should immediately seek a cure, and not wait until the fatal symptoms point unmistakably to death.

The first symptoms may be very slight and apparently trivial. But do not fail to heed them if you value your life. They often begin with a nervousness and weakness, a trembling or strange faint feeling, with tendency to giddiness. As the disease increases these symptoms grow in intensity and will be accompanied by dizziness, swimming of the head, fluttering or palpitation in the left side of the chest, shortness of breath, a sinking sensation, with coldness of the feet and legs. There is often, also, a feeling of apprehension or anxiety, as of impending danger, and a tendency to drowsiness during the day and sleeplessness at night.

A little over-exertion, excitement or emotion may bring on the attacks at any time. Sudden rising from a stooping or reclining position will cause dizziness, and rapidly climbing stairs will make the heart palpitate, produce weariness and shortness of breath. In some cases there are pains in the region of the heart, but in most cases there is no pain whatever.

If you are affected by these symptoms lose no time in seeking a cure, for a cure is not only possible, but sure, if you use Dr. Greene's Nervura, the great and wonderful discovery for heart, brain and nerves. It is purely vegetable and harmless, and its use offers the only sure hope of curing these terrible diseases and averting the fatal result. It is, we unhesitatingly affirm, a remedy of so great merit and marvellous virtues that no sufferer should neglect to use it, if a safe and sure cure is desired. It is for sale by all druggists at $1 per bottle.

No Other Remedy in the World Ever Had Such a Testimonial.

For the benefit of those who may be suffering and fail to find relief I desire to state my case. For over a year I suffered from a heart disease, a constant pain, with severe attacks of palpitation, until I anticipated a sudden death at any time. I became weak and debilitated, with a loss of energy, despondency, &c. Hearing Dr. Greene lecture he so faithfully described my condition that I determined to try Dr. Greene's Nervura. My improvement has been continuous and rapid. I have taken five bottles, and the pain and palpitation are gone. I sleep well, have an excellent appetite and feel well.

S. A. DYSART.
Nortondale, York Co., N. B.

Dr. Greene of 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass., its discoverer, is the famous specialist in the cure of nervous and chronic diseases. The doctor has devoted special attention to the treatment of all forms of chronic diseases through letter correspondence, and will give by mail his opinion and advice in any case free of charge. The perfection of this system renders a complete cure almost assured, as his success in treatment by correspondence is wonderful and unequalled. Send for symptom blank to fill out or write him about your case.

DYING WITH HUMORS

Which Three Doctors Could not Cure Cured in Four Weeks by Cuticura Remedies.

I wrote you about four years ago of the wonderful cure I made with your Cuticura Remedies of a bad humor on my face which twelve doctors failed to understand or cure. Three years ago last fall my son went to Sacramento, Cal., and after two or three months he broke out with a humor on his stomach and back, suffering very much. He employed three different doctors, and at last they told him to go back to Maine, as his disease was caused by change of climate, and he could not live in California. He wrote me that he was coming home, for he was dying with a humor that the doctors could not cure. I wrote him to get some Cuticura Remedies and take according to directions, and bathe freely with the Cuticura Soap, and in four weeks after he got my letter he wrote me he was entirely cured. He came home a few weeks ago on a visit, and is at home now. His health is good. I have recommended these remedies to a great many people with bad cases that you do not yield to doctors' medicines, and in no case have I known them to fail to make a cure. If you wish to refer any one to me, I will answer, with pleasure. HARRISON STEVENS, East Jackson, Me.

Cuticura Resolvent

The new Blood and Skin Purifier and greatest of Humor Remedies, internally (to cleanse the blood of all impurities and poisonous elements, and thus remove the cause), and Cuticura, the great Skin Cure, and Cuticura Soap, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally (to clear the skin and scalp, and restore the hair), speedily and permanently cure every species of itching, burning, scaly, crusted, pimply, scrofulous, and hereditary diseases and humors, infancy to age, from pimples to scrofula, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. This is strong language, but every word of it is true. Cuticura Remedies are the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times.

No Cure, No Pay

DR. E. F. TOWNSEND, of Boston, Mass., inventor of Oxygenated Air, also the Inhalation system in this country; also inventor of many Medical Remedies and Surgical Instruments, having devoted over twenty-five years to the treatment and cure of chronic diseases of every description with marked success, has established such perfect confidence in his own ability and remedies, that he is perfectly willing to treat and cure the sick, without receiving a dollar for professional services until a cure is established.

If you are sick or ailing from any cause, do not fail to see Dr. Townsend.

Such is the peculiar mechanism of the human system, that it often becomes deranged, debilitated and diseased from slight causes—for instance a misfit of eye glasses, or neglect to procure them when needed, oftimes deranges the entire system, as any strain upon the eyes directly effects the nerves, hence the whole system. Having made Oculism in all its varied forms a long and deep study, and having, by my improved system, cured diseases and restored sight in very many cases, I now make this feature a specialty. Eyes Examined Free. Glasses of every description made to order, warranted to fit, and furnished at most reasonable prices; send your name and address to 26 New Beaver Street, Boston, Mass., for circular.

FAME COULD NOT ALARM.

The Feeling of Security of a Man Whose Life Was Insured for $40.

They are tearing down old houses all over the city to make room for the more modern house. While these houses are being demolished there is usually a class of people who crowd around, eager to pick up the stray pieces of wood which come in their direction. Colored people generally predominate in this class, and many a family is thus supplied with fuel. While tearing down a house in the northwest section of the city recently the workmen were very much bothered by these "wood hustlers," as they term them.

The "wood hustlers" in this case were composed, with but one exception, of small negroes. This exception was an old negro who had one leg shorter than the other, and was nearly bent double, but, whether with age or not no one knew. He looked as if he had worked hard all his life, but appearances are deceitful.

The workmen became so incensed at the "wood hustlers" that they drove them all away excepting the old man. After a while the old man became more bold, and endangered himself in trying to get pieces of wood. One of the workmen spoke to him about it, telling him he would be hurt if he persisted in getting in the way. The old man mumbled out something, but paid no attention to the warning.

Finally he got close to the wall and stooped to pick up a piece of beam. Just as he was stooping a brick fell in front of him, and he narrowly escaped being hit. Seeing this a workman yelled:

"Look out, ole man, or you'll be killed."

"I doan't kare," replied the old man, and he continued to confiscate all the wood that came within his reach. Again he barely escaped being hit with another brick, and again the workman shouted:

"I done tole yer onst to git away from dere. The fust thing you know you won't know nothing."

"I doan't kare," reiterated the old man, looking around for more wood, and, seeing some in the interior of the building he went for it. He had hardly passed the door when a heavy beam fell in the place he had just vacated, enveloping him in a cloud of dust. Several workmen, thinking that the heavy beam had pinioned the old man to the ground, jumped down to render all the assistance possible. Imagine their surprise when, on reaching the place, they found the old man gathering the wood as unconcernedly as though nothing had happened. The workmen were speechless for a while and then one said:

"Look a' har, ole man, you'll have to git out o' this. We don't care 'bout losin' time er carryin' yer korpus through the street."

The old man looked contemptuously at the speaker, and then said in a don't-give-a-continental tone:

"G'way, niggers; I don't care. I jist had my life 'sured fo' forty dollars."—Washington Post.

Discoloration of the Skin.

Between the cuticle—the epidermis, that is, or scarfskin—and the true skin is a layer of cells which secrete from the blood a dark coloring matter. The black races have this feature most fully developed, but even the highest are not wholly destitute of it.

Its complete absence characterizes the albino, giving us occasionally a chalk white negro, the hair, of course, participating in the defect. As this pigment is also wanting in the albino's choroid coat of the eye—normally a dark background for the retina, and essential to clear vision—he is nearly blind except at night.

There is often a local absence of pigment, causing white patches on the limbs and different parts of the body. Such a patch on the head may give rise to a solitary white lock amid a full head of dark hair.

Some parts of the skin are naturally darker than the rest, and the darker color may extend far beyond the usual limit and still be purely physiological, but dark colored spots often appear on the body as a result of some diseased condition or of exciting cause.

The simplest and commonest of such spots are known as freckles. Their remote cause is a peculiarly sensitive skin; their direct cause is the light and heat of the sun. Persons with fair skin and hair are most subject to them. The pigment, which in others is uniformly distributed, seems to gather into small rounded spots.—Youth's Companion.

The Hottest Region.

Careful observations and comparisons made by scientific Americans prove that the hottest region on the earth is on the southwestern coast of Persia, where Persia borders the gulf of the same name.

For forty consecutive days in the months of July and August the thermometer has been known not to fall lower than 100 degs. night or day, and to often run up as high as 128 degs. in the afternoon.

At Bahrin, in the center of the torrid part of the torrid belt, as though it were nature's intention to make the region as unbearable as possible, no water can be obtained from digging wells 100, 200 or even 500 feet deep, yet a comparatively numerous population contrive to live there, thanks to copious springs which break forth from the bottom of the gulf, more than a mile from shore.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

An Interesting Reunion.

A family reunion was held at Lancaster, Mass., Aug. 16 which was somewhat remarkable. Mr. and Mrs. John W. Barnes were married there in May, 1835, and have been blessed with eight children, four girls and four boys. The entire family were gathered under the parental roof on the above date for the first time in eighteen years. Instances of fifty-five years of married life, without a break in so large a number of children, are certainly very rare, and the Barnes family of Lancaster ought to be desirable risks for life insurance companies. The average age of the whole family was found to be 50.8 years, ranging from 85 to 35, and the average weight was 167.8 pounds, ranging from 228½ pounds (the weight of the baby) to 120 pounds, the weight of the oldest child.—Boston Journal.

Lived on Three Cents a Day.

George Gilbert, a miser, aged 79, was found dead at his residence in Beardman. During the past fifty years he had lived alone, devoting his time to saving money, which he deposited in the banks. It was his boast that his living the year round did not cost him over three cents per day. In 1885 he sold a neighbor a load of hay for $47. Gilbert punctually collected the interest each year, and last year accepted the principal, it having earned him over $100. Gilbert leaves an estate valued at $125,000 to $150,000, and has no relatives residing in this section.—Cor. Pittsburg Dispatch.

The youngest editor in Boston five years ago (perhaps at present) was Daniel S. Knowlton, who in June, 1885, bought the moribund Sunday Times and ran it in competition with four established "society" weeklies. Today it leads all but one of these in circulation and, like its energetic manager, keeps moving.

John Whistler, the wealthy Pottawotta mie, who died a week ago, was the richest man in Indian Territory. He was born in 1836, at Fort Dearborn, now Chicago, but had lived in Indian Territory for twenty-two years. He leaves an immense estate. His wife is a Sac and Fox of considerable celebrity.

The announcement made several days ago that Colonel W. F. Carr would retire on Oct. 1 from the chief clerkship of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, an office which he has held uninterruptedly since the house opened to the public thirty years ago, created much surprise and regret among his legion of friends throughout this country.

A curious advertisement which appears in one of the English paper states: "Philanthropists—A lady would be pleased to hear from any benevolent persons willing to assist her in procuring the necessary funds for the academical training of an intelligent young man who is compelled against his will to earn his living in trade. Please communicate."

The Czar's personal body guard of private police consists of fifteen specially picked Corsicans, mature and tried men, chosen and trained by M. Celestin Pietri, nephew of Napoleon III.'s minister of police. These men have to keep watch in the kitchen and private apartments while some of them act as assistant cooks. It is intended gradually to increase the corps as suitable men can be found.

St. Paul Island is one of the chief resorts of the seals in Behring Sea. For about 800 feet up the water the ground slopes gently, and it is along this incline the seals establish themselves, the coast for 16 miles in some seasons being literally black with the animals. The males are very quarrelsome and fight for their positions, making a din almost deafening, which may be heard for miles. Here the young seals are born and nursed for a few days by the mothers, who then desert them, to be cared for by the older males until they are big enough to shift for themselves. The antics of the young when learning to swim are highly amusing. They flounder about in the water at first as totally helpless as a kitten. It is soon over, however, the seal being the most graceful of swimmers.

Commissioners' Notice.

PENOBSCOT, ss. Sept. 5, A. D. 1890.

We, the undersigned, having been duly appointed by the Honorable James H. Burgess, Judge of Probate for said County, Commissioners to receive and examine the claims of the creditors of in said County, deceased, whose estate has been represented insolvent, hereby give public notice agreeably to the order of the said Judge of Probate, that six months from and after the [illegible] day in August, 1890, have been allowed to said creditors to present and prove their claims, and that we will attend to the service assigned us at the office of F. A. Floyd, in said Bangor, on Saturday, the first day of November, 1890, and Saturday, the twenty first day of February, 1891, at [illegible] o'clock in the forenoon of each of said days.

Orville W., Lu Mc., and Veazie,

Can be Found Through the Season of 1890, from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M., Except Fridays and Saturdays.

—AT—

No 60, Broad Street, Bangor, Maine.

ORVILLE W. stands [illegible] hands high, weighs over eleven hundred pounds, was bred and raised by [illegible] Lexington, Ky., and sold to [illegible] son, of Waterville, Me., when two years old. Orville W. is producing the kind of stock the people have been looking for—something they can turn to a profit from at any age.

LU Mc will be five years old [illegible] Sire, Orville W.; stands 16 hands high, weighs 1200 pounds; first dam, born [illegible] record, 2.43; second dam, [illegible] record 2.19¼; third dam, [illegible] Nelson, record, 2.14¾. He is a horse of great power and speed as can be seen, and comes from the best of trotting blood on both sides. One has only to examine him and his stock to become convinced.

VEAZIE weighs 1300 pounds, stands 16¼ hands high, color dapple chestnut; sire Messenger [illegible] Administrator, by Rysdyk's Hambletonian & [illegible] by Gideon, by Rysdyk's Hambletonian. As can be seen by the above, Veazie is inbred Hambletonian, is 4 years old 1890.

Of the above named horses full pedigree can be obtained by calling at No. 60 Broad street, Bangor, or addressing W. L. Whitney, West Bangor, Me.
